

Former Editor Begins Doctorate

William D. Conway, former editor of the TESL Reporter and director of the English Language Institute at The Church College of Hawaii, has just concluded a summer of graduate studies at the Brigham Young University, Utah. He has been accepted for doctoral work in English at the University of Nebraska.